

SERVICE OF WORSHIP

September 29, 2019 • 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m.

ABOUT TODAY'S SERVICE

The prophet Amos lifts up a theme that is found in almost all the prophets: poverty. For the prophets, poverty is a sign that the community has failed. So, Amos speaks to those who are not poor and invites them to see themselves not as blessed or fortunate or self-made, but as called to rebuild the community.

Call to Worship	Rev. Zach Walker

Before we drew our first breath,
our names were etched into the heart of God.
 Before the sun could rise,
God watched over us and granted us this new day.
 Before we entered these doors,
God was waiting to welcome us,
like a parent welcoming a child home.

Hymn, No. 667

When Morning Gilds the Skies
 LAUDES DOMINI

*Prayer of Confession

When morning gilds the skies,
my heart awaking cries: may Jesus Christ be praised.
Except when we forget about You,
or believe we have more important matters to consider.
Perhaps more painful for You, O God,
is when our praise echoes to the rafters,
but we ignore our neighbors,
and pass by the poor,
and overlook the lonely.
We want to praise You with heart and voice,
and also with relationships that are just. (Silent prayer)

*Assurance of God's Grace

*Response (from Hymn, No.641)

Let every instrument be tuned for praise!
Let all rejoice who have a voice to raise!
And may God give us faith to sing always: Alleluia!

RESPONSE TO THE WORD

Hymn

As Long As Our Table

by Adam Tice and Colin Gibson; Village Choir

As long as our table isn't big enough to share,
as long as our arms don't open wide enough with care,
as long as there are people whom our standards must exclude,
as long as we assume a holy, haughty attitude,
we will never, no never know peace—
we will never, no never know peace.

As long as our action grows from fear of what seems strange,
as long as our structures are opposed to any change,
as long as there are people who aren't "pure enough" to bless,
as long as we keep clean because we stay out of the mess,
we will never, no never know peace—
we will never, no never know peace.

As long as our dialog excludes the other side,
as long as our faith must take its root in stubborn pride,
as long as we can't see that our assertions may be wrong,
as long as shouting voices drown the harmony of song,
we will never, no never know peace—
we will never, no never know peace.

One day when we turn from judging sins to meeting needs, one day when we follow Christ with all our words and deeds,
one day when we acknowledge ev'ryone has need of grace,
one day when we can look at anyone and see God's face,
we will open our hearts to God's peace—
we will open our hearts to God's peace.

by Engelbert Humperdinck; Village Ringers

*Response (from Hymn, No. 708)

We give thee but thine own, what-e'er the gift may be;
All that we have is thine alone, a trust, O Lord, from thee.

*Prayer of Dedication

*Hymn, No. 306 (v. 1-4; choir only on verse three)

MUSIC NOTES

Adam Tice wrote today's middle hymn, "As Long As Our Table," as a protest to narrow, exclusionary doctrines that prize a false sense of purity ahead of God's expansive grace. Tice dedicated the hymn to all those Jesus would welcome, but who have been disciplined, expelled, excommunicated or otherwise deemed less-than-worthy to participate in the Body of Christ. This hymn is fitting for the Village Church family, as our stated mission is, "to see and relate to every person in our communities and the world as loved by God."

This morning's offertory, "Prayer," is an arrangement of "Evening Prayer" from Englebert Humperdinck's opera "Hansel and Gretel." The children, abandoned deep in the woods, remind one another that they are not alone, even when they do feel well and truly lost. They sing "When at night I go to sleep, fourteen angels watch do keep. Two my head are guarding, two my feet are guiding; two upon my right hand, two upon my left hand. Two who warmly cover, two who o'er me hover, two to whom 'tis given to guide my steps to heaven." One of the many reasons we gather to worship together is to remind each other of God's constant presence; like these fourteen angels, our loving God sits with us always, whether we're feeling confident or like a lost child.

A LOOK TOWARD NEXT SUNDAY. . .

One of the phrases that lives in the theological imagination of the prophets declares that God's children are to be a "light to the nations." To say this another way, Christian faith should be good for the Christian, but also for everyone the Christian encounters, near and far. Next Sunday is World Communion Sunday. We will lift up the ways Village is endeavoring to be a light to the nations.

THE CHURCH'S BOOK (Week of September 30, 2019)

The following daily Bible readings were written by Rev. Dr. Brandon Frick and are offered for your own personal devotion. To prepare for World Communion Sunday – which began at Shadyside Presbyterian Church in the 1930's – on Oct. 6, here are a few passages from the New Testament that explore the practice and significance of the sacrament.

Monday, Sept. 30

Matthew 26:26-29

This is Matthew's account of the first ever "communion," which was rooted in the Passover tradition. Remembering God's desire to be in covenant relationship with us (think about Abraham, Noah, and David) what do you think is meant when Jesus refers to the cups as his "blood of the covenant?"

Tuesday, Oct. 1

Mark 14:17-21

What does it mean that Jesus knowingly shares in this meal with the one who will betray him?

Wednesday, Oct. 2

Luke 24:13-35

After his resurrection Jesus returns to his disciples, but for some reason they do not recognize him until he breaks bread with them. Why do you think that would be the moment when they finally recognized the man sitting across from them as Jesus himself?

Thursday, Oct. 3

Acts 2:43-47

At the first Pentecost the gifts of the Holy Spirit were poured out upon the crowds. This passage describes several ways in which those first converts lived together. Breaking bread, which is a shorthand way of describing "communion" (or something very much like it) is in that list. What is the common thread holding that list together?

Friday, Oct. 4

1 Corinthians 10:16-17

How does the sharing of bread and cup affect the church? Have you ever felt what is described here when you have taken cup and bread?

Saturday, Oct. 5

1 Corinthians 11:17-34

The Apostle Paul believed that breaking bread together demanded a certain way of living, but the church in Corinth was not living out that ethic. There was a practice in that day of the voluntary association meal in which different social strata would dine together, with the elite classes eating first, leaving whatever was left for the working classes to dine upon. It seems Corinth is following this practice. According to Paul, what are the consequences of that? Why do you think he uses such strong language?

SERMON SERIES

God May Not Be Who You Think She Is

Sept. 8-Oct. 27

This is a study of the Prophets. Sometimes the Prophets critique those who do not trust in God, but usually, they are correcting (or reminding) people's confused understandings of God. That's something all of us suffer from at times. Our understanding of God is never stagnant, or at least it shouldn't be. The prophets try, often unsuccessfully to push God's people toward greater faithfulness.
