

SERVICE OF WORSHIP

January 27, 2019 • 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m.

ABOUT TODAY'S SERVICE

Theodicy: that's the topic today. Theodicy is the intellectual and spiritual struggle to hold together the unending love of God and the reality of evil and suffering in the world. It's a question that is as old as Job and as current as today's newsfeed. Theodicy raises questions we want answered. Or at least we think we do. Christianity offers no clear answer to these questions. But there is a response to suffering and evil in the world. It is that response we will consider today.

Words of Welcome

Rev. Tom Are, Jr.

Call to Worship

Rev. Becky Chamberlain

On the first day, God said, "Let there be light,"

and there was light – enough light to show us the way.

On this day, God says, "You are my child."

That is who we are: children of God—
loved, claimed, and redeemed.

In every tomorrow, God will promise, "I will be with you always."

So, we will greet each day with praise,
each relationship with love,
and each moment with worship.

*Hymn, No. 305

*Prayer of Confession

God of glory,

It is not only our sin which we need to confess,
but also our fatigue.

It is not only our selfishness that controls us,
but also our fear.

It is not only our skepticism that challenges us,
but also our pain.

Take the whole of us, O God,
and from the varied pieces of our lives,
remake us to be wholly devoted to You. (Silent prayer)

MUSIC NOTES

Today's middle hymn, "Light Dawns on a Weary World," was composed by Mary Louise Bringle at the 2001 Hymn Society conference in Independence, Missouri. Bringle was so inspired by a plenary address by Fred Kaan, "Peacemaking through Worship," that she put her pen to paper in the hotel room that day. Drawing on the description of the watered garden in Isaiah 58:11, and paraphrasing Isaiah 55:12 in the refrain, Bringle found a beautiful way to musically express God's promised fulfillment. "Light" dawns so that human dignity can be seen on the day of justice; "love" nourishes hungry hearts at the feast of plenty; "hope" blooms in a reborn wilderness when Eden's greenness comes. – Carl Daw, Jr.

Winter Weather Advisory

If the weather forecast is to have 4 inches or more snowfall during Saturday night, the 8 a.m. worship service at Village on Mission will be cancelled.

Discover Village Information Center

A place for you to connect and ask questions. You're invited to stop by our Discover Village desk, between worship services, at the north Welcome Center entrance. Hosts will be available at the desk every Sunday morning; a place where you can share conversation and enjoy a cookie. We look forward to meeting you!

THE CHURCH'S BOOK (Week of January 28, 2019)

The following daily Bible readings were written by Rev. Len Carrell and are offered for your own personal devotion. You are invited to read the text, think about the reflection and questions and allow these to lead you in a time of prayer. Pray for your own journey of faith, pray for Village Church, pray for the community around you, and pray for all of creation.

Monday, Jan. 28

Nehemiah 8:1-1

When the prophet Nehemiah began to rebuild Jerusalem, the first order of business was for the people to worship God. All the Hebrews who had returned from exile gathered in the center of the city and Ezra, the priest, read the law of God aloud. Read this passage and listen for the resonant imagery of worship. Standing at the Water Gate early in the morning, the people gathered seeking understanding. Songs of "Amen" were lifted up and faces were bowed in prayer. It was a festival of eating and drinking and being sent out rejoicing. Day by day, from the first to the last, Ezra read the book of the law of God and they kept the festival and on the eighth day they assembled.

Tuesday, Jan. 29

Psalms 19

This Psalm speaks of not only keeping God's law as holy but keeping God's creation as holy. The writer promises in verse 11 that "in keeping them there is great reward." The psalmist is giving God praises for both the creation and the law with the creation being the enduring gift of God, and the law being the transforming gift of God. But the warning is clear: keeping them both in our care is our reward. We are rewarded with both the discipline and stewardship of God's law and creation.

Wednesday, Jan. 30

1 Corinthians 12:12-31

One body though many members, so it is with Christ. Unity in Christ is a diverse body of gifts. As you read through Paul's words and see how he imagines us as Christ's church, think about its membership. Who has been the hand of Christ for you today? Who has sat and listened with the empathetic ear of Christ in your life? Who has seen your burdens through the eyes of Christ? This is what being the body of Christ is all about – a life with and for each other.

Thursday, Jan. 31

Luke 4:14-21

Luke says that, "The eyes of all in the synagogue were fixed on him." Even when our eyes are fixed on Christ, we may miss the fulfillment of God's prophetic love in Him. Luke describes how the people in Jesus' hometown had a hard time seeing him as the Messiah. So, Jesus gets up and reminds them what to look for...bringing good news to the poor, proclaiming release to the captives, restoring sight to the blind, and setting free fearful souls.

John 2:1-11

In John's gospel, Christ is seen as a gift to the world, so it makes sense that the first sign of Christ's revealed glory is a gift of wine at a wedding. Here Jesus is in the midst of the new beginnings of a couple's marriage. Jesus dwells where lives thrive and human relationships flourish. Jesus' presence gives notice to the celebrations of life, community, family, meals and hospitality. The first sign of God's revealed love is a moment of joy and wonder.

Saturday, Feb. 2

Psalm 36:5-10

When you think about the love and goodness of God, how limitless and great is your thinking? For the psalmist, God's love for humanity and creation and our dependence on God for everything, become cosmic in scope. The heavens and the clouds mark the limits of the world. The tops of the highest mountains to the greatest depths signify the vastness of God's desire for us. These attributes are directly related to God's love and faithfulness to us and reminders that God's saving grace is for all living things, animals and humans alike, to be brought into the very nature of God.
