

SERVICE OF WORSHIP

March 26, 2017 • 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m.

ABOUT TODAY'S SERVICE

There is a surprising moment in Jesus' ministry. He meets a scribe who gets all the answers right. Jesus tells the scribe that he is not far from the Kingdom of God. "Not far." Is that not far as in "almost?" Or not far as in "missed it by a mile?"

Call to Worship

Rev. Len Carrell

The Lord is God:

creator, redeemer, sustainer,
the one who flung stars into the sky to light our way.

The Lord is God:

adored and adoring, truth-teller and justice-seeker,
the one who journeys to the cross and bids us follow.

The Lord is God:

as invisible as air, as ever-present as breath,
the one who is with us always, to the end of the age.

but we are too afraid to trust you.

Forgive us when we know our neighbors need us, but we remain unconvinced our little lives can make a difference. (Silent prayer)

ABOUT TODAY'S MUSIC

An “elegy” is a serious, reflective poem. During this season of Lent, it seems fitting to begin our worship with a piece of music that invites some introspection. To look inside oneself, into the corners of our mind and hearts, is an important spiritual practice. In those corners we sometimes find things to be afraid of, but we may also find strength that we didn’t know we had, or memories that we haven’t considered in quite some time.

Some of the magic of music lies in its ability to communicate a wide range of stories and emotions, even with one simple tune. Today’s postlude is a festive celebration based on the tune of our closing hymn: KINGSFOLD. A great many hymn texts have been set to this tune, from the more confident The Mighty God with Power Speaks (#13), to the narrative O Sing a Song of Bethlehem (#159), to the vulnerable I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say (#182). This is a tune that can work its way into your ears and keep you company all week long!

THE CHURCH'S BOOK (Week of March 27, 2017)

The following daily Bible readings were written by Rev. Jenny McDevitt and are an offering for your own personal devotion. You are invited to read the text, think about the reflection and questions and allow these to lead you in a time of prayer. Pray for your own journey of faith. Pray for Village Church and our mission. Pray for God's world.

Proverbs 1

This little-read book offers instruction, understanding and insight. "Fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; fools despise wisdom and instruction." In a way, this is a collection of handed down wisdom. What wisdom was handed down to you from family or a mentor or friend? What wisdom in you is most worth sharing?

Tuesday, March 28

Proverbs 3

Verses 5-6 were among the first Bible verses I ever memorized. "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and do not rely on your own understanding." How often we need to be reminded of this!

I confess that all too often, I think I know more than I really do. What is going on in your life right now that would benefit from trusting God? What do you need to let go of?

Wednesday, March 29

Proverbs 6

This chapter is titled "Practical Admonitions." Some of these instructions make good common sense, and others are bewildering. Learn from the ant, it reads, learn about hard work and focus. But then it continues: if you slumber, poverty will come upon you. Perhaps it means to refer to extreme circumstances, but it reads a bit harshly, doesn't it? Have you ever said something and then thought, "That's not exactly what I meant to say?" How did you follow up?

Thursday, March 30

Proverbs 14

Wisdom and foolishness. Those are the themes of this chapter. What wisdom looks like, and what foolishness looks like. I'd argue that context is everything in making this sort of determination. Staying silent in some circumstances is wise; staying silent in other circumstances is foolish and/or dangerous. Nevertheless, what does wisdom look like to you? How do you endeavor to gain wisdom?

Friday, March 31

Proverbs 26

This chapter contains one of my favorite contradictions: "Do not answer fools according to their folly, or you will be a fool yourself. Answer fools according to their folly, or they will be wise in their own eyes." So that's perfectly clear, right? Perhaps again we are invited to consider context. Yet the question remains: when have you acted or spoken foolishly? Our friends and family can bring out the best in us, but they can also witness the worst in us. Some would invite us to "rise above" in moments like this. How do you "rise above?" Where do you find faith in that?

Saturday, April 1

Proverbs 27

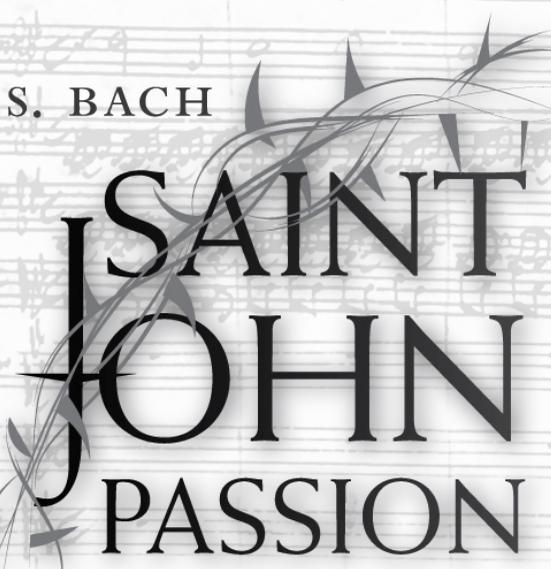

"Do not boast about tomorrow," this chapter begins, "for you do not know what a day might bring." While other verses from this book have brought me questions, this verse speaks truth right into my heart. We do not know what each day will hold, nor how many days we have. The poem "The Summer Day" by Mary Oliver concludes this way: "Tell me, what do you plan to do with your one wild and precious life?" So, friends: what do you plan to do with your one wild and precious life?

LENTEN SERMON SERIES

The People You Meet Along the Way

Jesus journeyed to Jerusalem. It was a journey on foot and a journey of the heart. A cross awaited him. When you know the end is near your time is precious and you pay attention to the people around you. Jesus spoke with his followers and with a rich man. He noticed children and an impoverished woman. Jesus paid attention to them all. We will pay attention to them as well, and discover that there is a little bit of all of them in us. I suppose that means we are on the journey as well, at least the journey of the heart.
