

SERVICE OF WORSHIP

September 23, 2018 • 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m.

ABOUT TODAY'S SERVICE

It's not so hard to identify with Jonah when his story begins, running away from God's challenge. But this ancient tale teaches some other truths we're less quick to claim. According to the story, Jonah is the most successful prophet in all our biblical literature. But he's so concerned with his call, he resents the success. Have you ever worked so hard at something, that when the door finally opens you're hesitant to walk through? Have you ever so entrenched yourself in a way of thinking, that when others come around, you're not sure how to give up the battle? Have you ever received just what you thought you wanted, only to lay around and cry about it? Yeah, Jonah too.

Call to Worship

Rev. Zach Walker

We have run, and we have become weary,
so we come, trusting God's mercy can restore.

We have navigated storms, and fallen into seas,
so we come, knowing God alone can still our troubled waters.

We have been eaten alive by hunger that can't be satisfied,
so we come, seeking the bread of life.

We have witnessed miracles, and doubted grace,
so we come, wanting for love that doesn't let us go.

We come to worship,
trusting God will meet us here,
renewing us to work and wait together
for God's promised day.

*Hymn, No. 664

Morning Has Broken
BUNESSAN

*Prayer of Confession

Merciful God,
We find ourselves standing again with Jonah,
testing the limits of Your grace.

We want to imagine like You,
but find Your dreams to be offensive.

We want to work for You,
but claim Your success as our own.

We want to do Your justice,
but Your grace gets in our way.

We have said we want to be Yours,
but really, we want You to be ours.
So find us in our storms,
our beasts,
under our shelters of resentment.
Find the parts of us that we hide from You,
and wash us again in Your promise,
that Your grace is big enough,
even for us. (Silent Prayer)

*Response

Alleluia, alleluia, alleluia!

PROCLAMATION OF THE WORD

Call to Prayer (from Hymn, No. 627)

I love you, Lord, and I lift my voice to worship you; O my soul, rejoice.
Take joy, my God, in what you hear; may it be a sweet, sweet sound in your ear.

Prayers of the People and the Lord's Prayer

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name.
Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread;
and forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors;
and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory, forever. Amen.

MUSIC NOTES

Chris Leaver, guest organist, is a long-time member of the Village Choir and Alegria, and is a valued organ and piano accompanist at Village on Mission and Village on Antioch. ABOUT THE PARAMENTS

The paraments found in the chancel, as well as hangings at the north and south entrances of the church, were created by the liturgical arts committee. They bring to mind the waves and undulations of the sea, in support of the sermon series about Jonah. The sea represents different things to Jonah at different times along his voyage: an escape, a threat, delivery to a destination, and a reminder of a valuable lesson from God. Sometimes God uses a single thing to mean many things throughout a person's life. That item can be like a yard stick that measures the way we change as the journey goes on. Can you think of such a thing in your own life?

THE CHURCH'S BOOK (Week of September 24, 2018)

The following daily Bible readings were written by Rev. Becky Chamberlain and are offered for your own personal devotion. You are invited to read the text, think about the reflection and questions and allow these to lead you in a time of prayer. Pray for your own journey of faith, pray for Village Church, pray for the community around you, and pray for all of creation.

Monday, Sept. 24

Romans 8:28

Please don't quote this verse to someone who is hurting. Rather, think back to times of tragedy or failure in your own life and see if it doesn't hold true. When I look back on hard times from a big picture perspective, I see how God has redeemed those experiences and given me fresh starts and new life, over and over again. Is that your experience as well? Remembering God's power to redeem helps when hard times come along.

Tuesday, Sept. 25

Psalms 46:10-11

One of my favorite ways to pray is to sit in silence, maybe for 20 minutes or so. I try to let go of all the interior noise going on in my head and create some space for God. It is the simplest form of prayer there is, but it is not easy. The interior noise, also called "monkey mind," demands attention. I use a word like "love" or "abide" to bring me back. This prayer is not about doing it "right," but being faithful, just doing it. I'm surprised at how these 20 minutes impact the rest of my day.

Wednesday, Sept. 26

John 4: 1-30; 39-42

The Samaritan woman at the well is probably the last person you would expect to be an evangelist. Jews considered Samaritans heretics, foreigners and unclean; they avoided contact. Women were never spoken to in public. Jesus approached her, engaged her in a lively theological discussion, then told her he was the Messiah. She ran to her neighbors: "Come and see... Could he be the Messiah?" She didn't have all the answers, but she told her story. They came and saw for themselves. Do you have a story about your encounter with Jesus Christ? Who might you tell?

Thursday, Sept. 27

Psalms 103: 15-18

St. Benedict, who wrote his Rule in the 6th century, said, "Day by day remind yourself that you are going to die." This might seem morbid, but when I remember that I am going to die someday, each day becomes a little more precious and how I spend it becomes a little more important. I realize that I am not the center of the universe. I become a little more grateful and a little less self-absorbed when I consider my finite place and God's infinite, steadfast love.

Friday, Sept. 28

John 13: 3-5

I love these verses! They provide the key to everything Jesus said and did when he walked this earth as one of us: "Jesus... knowing that he had come from God and was going to God..." He had a solid sense of who he was in God, and that made all the difference. He could wash dirty feet, love the unlovely, teach clueless disciples, take the lowest place, defend women, challenge injustice, speak truth to power, and forgive even those who put him to death. We, too, have come from God and are going to God. When we live in this truth, there's no telling what might be possible for us to do!

Saturday, Sept. 29

I Corinthians 13: 12-13

St. Paul says our sight is limited. There's so much we don't know. It's like we're peering through mist, squinting through fog. But it won't always be that way. One day we will see it all clearly, see God clearly, see God as clearly as God sees us. When we make our transition from this life to the next, we will know God fully, just as God knows us fully and loves us even so. Until that day, St. Paul says there are three things we can do to prepare – trust steadily in God, hope unswervingly, and love extravagantly.

CURRENT SERMON SERIES

Prophet & Lost Statements: A Series on Jonah

Jonah was called by God to share a holy word in Nineveh. Nineveh was the last place that Jonah wanted to go. There were good reasons for that. But after a few days in a fish to think things over, Jonah agrees. He's still not happy about it. Some of the prophets were bothered that they had to speak words of judgment (Jeremiah and Isaiah would be among them). Jonah was worried that God might be gracious. So, this prophet tries to get lost . . . but one thing that will not happen with a gracious God . . . try as you might, you won't be lost.
