SERVICE OF WORSHIP

October 1, 2017 • 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m.

ABOUT TODAY'S SERVICE

In his 1554 commentary on Genesis, French theologian and reformer John Calvin wrote that the story of the Tower of Babel is “absolute proof of man’s headstrong pride joined with contempt for God.” In his view, the story illustrates humankind’s hubris and arrogance and in response, God punishes the world by creating different languages and cultures. But is that the only way to read this story? More recently biblical scholars are posing a different interpretation – that difference and diversity are not God’s punishment but rather God’s design.

WORSHIP NOTES

On World Communion Sunday, Christians from around the globe gather to celebrate the Lord's Supper. Catholics and Protestants, Mainline and Fundamentalist, all ages, all races – on this day, we are reminded that there are many ways to “be Christian.” World Communion Sunday began in 1934 when the leaders of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church in Pittsburgh, called upon all churches to celebrate the Lord's Supper on the first Sunday of October as an act of Christian unity. The invitation was gladly received by Roman Catholic, Orthodox and Episcopal churches who celebrate communion every Sunday. It was more controversial with Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, Lutheran, congregational and independent churches. In 1940, the National Council of Churches, the nation's largest group of Christian churches, affirmed the call. Today, the World Council of Churches estimates that more than two billion Christians will join together in communion across the world. The music, the liturgy and the setting for the Lord's table all reflect the unity and diversity of the church on this World Communion Sunday.

ABOUT TODAY'S MUSIC

The opening hymn graciously states it: “For everyone born, a place at the table.” Today's music selections hail from around the globe and across the centuries to help connect us with our brothers and sisters from far and wide. The organ prelude was composed based on this text from the Yoruba tradition: “The King of heaven whom we should cherish, we do not cherish. The Savior of mankind whom we should serve, we do not serve; Jesus whom we should worship, He is the very one the world derides and abuses; Lord of the Rainbow, forgive us our offences; for the sake of Jesus, grant us pardon.” The music is a very honest depiction of this text: it starts simply and politely, but grows and develops to a crashing fortissimo, in a thick and chromatic texture. After this brief outcry of emotion, both the music and the soul retreat back to the original graceful plea. The piece is driven by constant yearning and the regret of unrequited love.

THE CHURCH'S BOOK (Week of October 1, 2017)

The following daily Bible readings were written by Rev. Jenny McDevitt and are offered for your own personal devotion. You are invited to read the text, think about the reflection and questions and allow these to lead you in a time of prayer. of prayer. Pray for your own journey of faith, pray for Village Church, pray for the community around you, and pray for all of creation.

Monday, Oct. 2

2 Peter 1:1-11

The author of this letter stands in awe of the promises of God. That is a good and faithful thing, for these promises are so great, how could we respond in any other way? We are then presented with a list of attributes to pursue in light of God's promises, and here the awe may fall away. Self control, endurance, godliness, goodness, affection. . . they all sound good, but to live up to this list is a mighty task. Rather than be discouraged, however, consider seeking out small ways you might seek improvement in one area each day. Sometimes striving toward high expectations can in fact bring out the best in us.

Tuesday, Oct. 3

2 Peter 1:12-21

Memory is important. It informs our faith and gives us confidence that God will keep God's promises. . . because that has always been God's way. "I think it right to refresh your memory," the author writes. Remembering is a holy practice. When you remember God's faithfulness to you, what comes to mind?

Wednesday, Oct. 4

2 Peter 3:1-10

Waiting is not always our strength. We live in a world where we seldom have to wait for things like food, entertainment, communication, or other material goods. But we also live in a world where we are always waiting -- waiting for test results, waiting for a child, waiting for a second chance, waiting for peace (to name just a few). Waiting is hard, and God's timing often feels so different from our own. What are you waiting for? How do you wait?

Thursday, Oct. 5

2 Peter 3:11-18

Regard the patience of the Lord as salvation, this passage instructs us. Patience is so often something we approach out of necessity, rather than out of delight. It can so quickly turn to impatience. Each can be faithful, depending on circumstance. Where in your life might you consciously choose to be joyfully patient?

Friday, Oct. 6

Matthew 22:1-14

This parable about dress codes is a tough read. And yet it suggests, albeit in a difficult way, that there are times and circumstances that deserve nothing less than our very best. God will take us as we are, to be sure, but God also longs for us to offer our best effort. In our busy days, this likely means setting some priorities. What is your priority this week?

Saturday, Oct. 7

Psalms 80

Let your face shine, that we may be saved. As the days get shorter and the nights grow longer, we pray for the light. The psalmist was familiar with that prayer. The world can often seem so dark. And yet we declare that salvation is coming. Where do you see light today?

An Ordination Invitation

You are invited to celebrate the ordination of Sarah Are, by joining us in a worship service to celebrate Sarah's ordination as a Minister of Word and Sacrament at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 10, in the Village on Mission Sanctuary.

Sarah is the daughter of Tom and Carol Are, and a child of Village Church. She is also the daughter of six generations of Presbyterian pastors. Sarah graduated from Columbia Theological Seminary in May, and has accepted a position as the designated associate pastor for youth and young adults at Preston Hollow Presbyterian Church in Dallas. Thus, Sarah is finally within driving distance to KC- fact her entire family celebrated.

In Sarah's words, "I would not be who I am without Village. This church has loved me unconditionally, encouraged me endlessly, and supported throughout my time in seminary. I learned how to sing in the youth choir, I learned how to be a leader in the youth group, I learned how to pray in these pews, and I learned what the community of saints looks like from this church. There is simply no other place I would want to be ordained than at Village Presbyterian Church, for Village will always be home."

SERMON SERIES

It Takes a Village

We sometimes assume that Jesus, by the time he was old enough to talk, was fully aware that he was the Christ and knew just how to live as God's son in human history. But there are moments in the Gospel story when Jesus encountered others who seemed to teach him who he was or at least how to live as God's son. It's not too much to say that in some of these encounters Jesus learned how to be Jesus. There is not a one of us who comes to a life of faith and faithfulness without the mentoring of others. That seems to be true for Jesus as well. Perhaps we can learn from those who taught him.
