SERVICE OF WORSHIP

October 14, 2018 • 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m.

ABOUT TODAY'S SERVICE

Today we begin a new sermon series that explores three theological values that inform our ministry. These values are incarnation, relationship and mission. As we explore these theological values, we think you will see in them a confirmation of who we are as Village Church. At the same time, we will gain a glimpse of who we want to be.

MUSIC NOTES

The brass will play two transcriptions today, pieces that were originally written for voices and have now been set for instruments. The original text of the prelude helps us prepare for worship with this prayer: Let Thy holy presence, O loving spirit, come dwell among us; show your truth and love. The composer of our offertory, Salamone Rossi is the only known Jewish composer hired to work as an Italian court musician in the 17th century. He composed this work for three separate ensembles, singing praises to God in conversation with one another.

Today's sung response to the scripture is a text that was just commissioned specifically for Village. A brand new, four stanza text has been written by renowned hymn writer John Thornburg to reflect the current sermon series, "Living Toward God's Promised Day." Each week we will sing the stanza written to pair with that week's topic, concluding with a singing of the complete hymn on Nov. 4. You will notice that we are singing the new text to a familiar tune (SLANE) – that has the practical purpose of being easier to sing, but is also meant to conjure up the concepts from the more familiar text, "Be Thou My Vision."

THE CHURCH'S BOOK (Week of October 15, 2018)

The following daily Bible readings were written by Rev. Dr. Brandon Frick and are offered for your own personal devotion. You are invited to read the text, think about the reflection and questions and allow these to lead you in a time of prayer. Pray for your own journey of faith, pray for Village Church, pray for the community around you, and pray for all of creation.

Monday, Oct. 15

Gen. 2:5-25

We're made to "till" and "keep" creation. Read through this text again, and write down any other ways human beings interact with creation. What do those interactions tell us about the relationship between human and nonhuman creation before "the fall?"

Tuesday, Oct. 16

Gen. 3:1-19

This text is often studied for the sole purpose of seeing how "the fall" affects human beings, but what else does the curse affect, and what does that mean for how human sin affects the world?

Wednesday, Oct. 17

Gen. 6:11-13, 17-19; Gen 9:1-5; 8-13

The story of "the flood" and the ensuing covenant is one of the most famous stories in the Bible. Who/what is damaged or destroyed in the flood, and who/what does God covenant with after the flood?

Thursday, Oct. 18

Exodus 20:8-11

God gives the Sabbath as a day of rest, and who/what is explicitly named as a beneficiary of that rest? What does that mean for them to be provided rest in the Ten Commandments?

Friday, Oct. 19

Psalms 72

What is the connection between the king and creation? Does this bring you comfort or worry? Why?

Saturday, Oct. 20

Psalms 148

All of creation sings the praises of the Lord, not just humans. Take a moment to step or look outside. Pick any living thing and write down anything for which it might want to thank God. Is that list so different than your own expressions of gratitude towards God?

NEW SERMON SERIES

Living Toward God's Promised Day

William Faulkner once wrote, "The past is never dead. It's not even past." There is wisdom in these words, as our yesterdays show up in both predictable and unexpected ways. Nevertheless, the Christian faith provides a different way to look at our day. As Christians we are not primarily defined by our past, but by a future promised day. It is a day when God makes right that which we cannot heal. Of course, we only see glimpses of it in our lives, but it is a day that is trustworthy and true. This is why Rev. Tom Are's last words to you each Sunday are "live toward God's promised day." For we are not defined by our yesterdays, not even our grand ones, but by a tomorrow we have yet to see.
